profile

Talia is a partner in the firm's Regulatory Group. Her advocacy practice covers a broad range of corporate and commercial matters with an emphasis in the management and resolution of complex environmental and regulatory disputes. Talia represents clients from a wide range of industries dealing with matters ranging from common commercial disputes such as breach of contract, fraud and negligence to environmental matters involving recent, ongoing and historical contamination.

Talia also advises on environmental risk, liability and due diligence issues at all stages of complex real estate, business and financing transactions with a focus on getting the deal across the finish line. Her expertise in greenhouse gas emissions regimes of the federal and provincial governments as well as environmental reporting and approvals obligations allows her to assist clients with their environmental laws compliance.

With experience acting as defence counsel in a variety of regulatory and quasi-criminal federal and provincial prosecutions on behalf of individual and corporate clients, Talia is a strong defender of her clients' rights, dealing with the Crown and negotiating resolutions where appropriate in order to give clients peace of mind.

Prior to joining McMillan, Talia practiced at a mid-sized law firm in Toronto. As a musician and supporter of the Arts, Talia takes pride in her involvement in a not-for-profit community concert band in which she plays the alto saxophone.
