profile

Samson is an associate in the Business Law Group at our Vancouver office. His practice focuses primarily on assisting companies of various sizes in technology and healthcare negotiate and draft contracts, licensing and service agreement, data agreements and other commercial agreements, advise on privacy compliance and draft privacy policies, and facilitate routine corporate commercial matters. He is also experienced in corporate and commercial transactions in relation to purchase and sale of businesses and real estate developments, disclosure statements, property leases, corporate reorganizations, and contractual disputes and wills and representations.

Samson is a Certified Information Privacy Professional in Canada and is experienced in advising on issues of privacy compliance under the laws in Canada and the European Union's General Data Protection Regulation. He has a special interest in healthcare technology, blockchain technology and is experienced in advising on laws related to technology and cryptocurrency.

Prior to his legal career, Samson worked at a provincial health authority where he specialized in vaccine-related health policies and projects. Samson is active as an investor and strategic advisor of a medical startup, so he offers a unique, entrepreneurial perspective to provide effective solutions to clients for matters relating to their businesses. He also brings an international approach to his practice from his experience working at an international law firm in Hong Kong.

He is fluent in both Mandarin and Cantonese.
